

IMPACT

80% of people receiving mental health services from our outpatient centers reached their treatment goals.

40,000

CHILDREN, ADOLESCENTS, AND ADULTS THROUGHOUT MASSACHUSETTS RECEIVED BEHAVIORAL HEALTHCARE AND HUMAN SERVICES FROM RIVERSIDE.

Our new Riverside School and Life Skills Center in Milford – a highly structured and supportive therapeutic program for adolescents – was recognized by the State Senate and House of Representatives at our ribbon-cutting ceremony. In attendance were (L to R): Rep. Jeffrey N. Roy (Franklin); Rep. Brian Murray (Milford); Doreen Shea, Director of Riverside School and Riverside Life Skills West; Sen. Ryan Fattman (Webster); and Shannon Sorensen, Vice President of Child & Family Services.

More than 1,234 babies

from birth to age 3 received our Early Intervention services, including infants not gaining weight, toddlers with speech delays, and young children having trouble walking.

3,093

teachers, firefighters, police, parents, and other community members were trained by our Trauma Center about the warning signs, risks, and prevention of suicide among youth.

86%

of adolescents who participated in our Riverside Schools successfully moved on from the program – by graduating, returning to a mainstream high school, or moving to a less intensive level of care.

MORE THAN
630

PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES SECURED A JOB THROUGH OUR EMPLOYMENT
COLLABORATIVES.

Our Riverside Trauma Center Director, Larry Berkowitz, was in the news this year leading discussions about the controversial Netflix series “13 Reasons Why” and what we need to know about suicide prevention (search online for Larry Berkowitz on WBUR 90.9 FM with host Meghna Chakrabarti). We know from research and Riverside’s own work in communities and schools across Massachusetts that glamorizing suicide, as is done in the show, increases the risk of suicide among youth.

We provided
124,994
outpatient therapy visits.

Riverside has begun piloting a model for expanding the number of older adults who can receive cost-efficient and convenient psychiatric services remotely. Using video technology, Riverside can expand our capacity to provide high quality behavioral health services to people who previously had limited access.
