When Mendon resident Dr. Patrick McEnaney hit the 100-mile mark on an all-day, all-night charity run that spanned 27 straight hours, he was exhilarated. "It's the furthest distance that I've ever run," he said, "and ultimately all the hard work, and effort, and back-to-back long runs, essentially every weekend for almost a whole year, finally came to fruition." McEnaney, who is the chair of surgery at Milford Regional Medical Center, ran the 30-hour challenge at the annual Hamsterwheel on Nov. 7-8, at Hillsborough County Fairgrounds in New Boston, New Hampshire. The run has raised more than $20,000 for Riverside Community Care, a mental health and substance use service provider expected to open a new, behavioral healthcare center in Milford in December.

Moving In: New Buildings in Somerville and Milford

Despite the pandemic, renovations are now complete, and we've moved into our building at 117 Summer Street in Somerville! The new building will house outpatient therapy and medication services, home-based services, the Family After-School Program, our newest Life Skills Center, and domestic violence services. We are equally thrilled to be moving into our new Behavioral Healthcare Center at 176 West Street in Milford next month. Bringing a much-needed expansion in behavioral healthcare access to south-central Massachusetts, the Milford building will house outpatient and substance-use services, an on-site pharmacy, and 24-hour emergency intervention teams.

Virtual Group Therapy Offerings

More than a dozen groups address areas from mindfulness to substance use recovery to coping skills for teens, and more. Some groups are drop-in, some require advance sign-up, and all are facilitated by experienced Riverside clinicians.
